gader this classification the man or woman of character and ability wanting employment; the responsible employer wanting reliable and efficient help; the man of firm desiring capital for their business, or those wishing to dispose of anything will stand the fullest investigation, may go before the readers of The Tribune with their statements indorsed by this paper,

ANY advertisers have the knowledge of Jones as described by Smith when he was asked how his friend was getting along with his new automobile.
"Fine, fine," replied Smith. "Jones has got so now that he can almost tell what's the matter when it won't go."

Honest, straightforward advertising that "won't go" lacks only the right kind of medium to carry the message to make

Can you imagine a stronger advertising appeal than an investigated advertisement indorsed by The Tribune? Do you know of any better way to inspire confidence in your advertisement?

You must know that it is confidence in you and your advertisement which brings the resultful replies.

No advertisement is accepted for this classification until the personal integrity of the advertiser and the honesty of the advertisement are both proven to be deserving of public confidence after a thorough investigation.

This has given Tribune readers perfect confidence in answering advertisements which appear here. "Tribunal" advertisements "go"-there is a reason. It is only by carefully protecting the confidence of readers that the interest of "Tribunal" advertising can be promoted. It is by protecting readers that advertisements which come up to the standard set for this classification are assured of unusual advertising value.

There is no doubt that the character of Tribune readers is the kind which advertisers want their sales stories to reach. If you are interested in this department we would be pleased to have you call. Or a request by telephone or mail will bring a representative to you.
